SECOND NATIONAL BANK OF OSWEGO, In an action, brought by an assignee in bankruptcy against a bank to recover a payment made to it, as having been made with intent to give a preference, and received by the bank with knowledge of the debtor's insolvency, the bank is chargeable with knowledge of all facts in regard to the debtor's intention and solvency which its president has acquired while acting in the capacity of president in its behalf. What evidence is sufficient to establish such knowledge on the part of the president, considered. Arrnsr. from a judgment in favor of the plaintiff, entered upon the report of a referee. The action was brought by the plaintiff, as the assignee in bankruptcy of one George Ames, to recover a payment made by said Ames to the defendant on March 31, 1877, on the ground that it was made in violation of the bankrupt act. (Sec. 5128 of the U. S. Rev. Stat.) The referee was the proper person to pass upon the credibility of the witnesses, which became necessary by reason of their conflicting Statements, and unless there is something in the papers to indicate otherwise, the progress of the trial, and it was proper the referee should give credit to those witnesses who gave evidence of circumstances leading to those results, rather than to those who testify to facts at variance with them, or if...
